

Gifts of Securities

Federal Budget Eliminates Capital Gains Tax on Gifts of Publicly Listed Stock and Securities.

Gifts of securities are gifts of stock and shares from a publicly traded company. When a stock is performing well, it is subject to a capital gains tax. Individuals who are cashing in a stock for personal use are subject to pay tax on 50% of the capital gain.

As of May 2, 2006 all donations of publicly listed securities to public charities will be exempt from capital gains tax. An outright gift of securities allows donors to see their gift at work during their lifetime and to fulfill their philanthropic objectives, while at the same time benefiting from immediate tax advantages.

Giving stocks, bonds and mutual funds to Canadian Feed The Children will eliminate the capital gains tax on the increase in value. When you combine your capital gains tax savings with your charitable tax credit, the savings can be significant.

Please see the enclosed document for information about transferring your gift today.
